

Conclude your speech

Lets have a look at the conclusion of your speech. This can be divided into two parts, some nice advice and warm fuzzies, and the toast.

Here we'll look at rapping up your speech with a nice quote, poem, joke or piece of advice.

Instruction: Copy & paste one of the following into your speech template:

I am sure you will all agree that they really do make a lovely couple and I am sure we speak on behalf of everyone who knows them when we wish them every happiness for the future.

I asked Jane's Mum this morning how it feels to see her daughter get married, and she said "it only seems like yesterday that she was going to bed with her dummy". Funny how history repeats itself.

In conclusion, John you have found someone who is beautiful, kind, considerate, generous and loving. And Jane – you have found, well ..... John.

So to wrap this up, I'd just like to say that marriage is not about finding someone you can live with, it's about finding someone you can't live without.

Here's 'Wishin and Hopin' that John and Jane have the best of times together as Mr and Mrs Smith.

It's been bloody good having John Boffer as a mate over the last 20 yrs, they say that your I. Don't leave the toilet seat up 2. Remember birthdays and anniversaries 3. Don't leave mates define you and on that I am proud to have you as a mate, and am looking forward to what is going to be a friendship for life, also looking forward to getting to know your thought it worth mentioning again. 4. Buy flowers regularly, but not so often that it children in the near future and grand children a little further down the track, becomes suspicious 5. Keep telling Jane those 3 important little words, "you're right dear".

6. Most importantly make sure you get on with your mother-in law. To start with I didn't speak to mine for two years. It wasn't because I didn't like her it's just I thought it was A friends love says if you ever need something I'll be there. True love says You'll never rude to interrupt. need anything I'll be there. And that's what makes John and Jane such a great couple.

They're truly in love and always there for each other.

May the best day of the past be the worst day of your future.

John you're my oldest and dearest best friend, and it's been an honour to be your best man today and I'd like to thank you from the bottom of my heart for affording me the privilege of being your best man. You're incredibly lucky to be here today. It's a great day for you and Jane. You've both made the right decisions to have the right husband. I had a good wish for a better friend, the best man for. We've had some great times together, and I know we'll both look back at these times with fond memories.

Joking aside... I'm really, really honoured to be here today as John best man. I regard both John and Jane as the type of Friends that will always be there for you whenever it's needed. And I for one regard their friendship very, very highly as I'm sure your all value their friendship too. I would just like to say that we all wish you both, nothing but the best for the future. You are a unique and perfectly matched couple, and I hope all your dreams come true, and that you may have a long and happy life together.

So to wrap up, I'd just like to say, John, thank you for giving me the opportunity to enlighten all you family and friends here today

John. It's fair to say that our friendship has aged like a good wine. You are my oldest, dearest friend with whom I've shared many great memories. Gone out on many dates.. Webster's defines union as an agreement and conjunction of mind, spirit, will, and hang on. That sounded gay... but I am fortunate to have a friendship as special as yours. affections. When I think of John and Jane marriage, I think of a creation of harmony and I look forward to creating many more memories together with Adele. between their intelligent minds, their indelible spirits, 2 very stubborn people, and last but certainly not least their endless affections.

*T*oast the bride & groom

The final duty as the best man is to toast the bride & groom. This is an important part of the speech, so it is best to be prepared and to at least have memorized this.

I strongly recommend that you are original and do not repeat a toast from other speeches. So you should have at least two toasts pre-prepared and ready to use.

Instruction: Copy & paste one of the following into your speech template:

I am sure you will all agree that they really do make a lovely couple and I am sure we speak on behalf of everyone who knows them when we wish them every happiness for the future.

I asked Jane's Mum this morning how it feels to see her daughter get married, and she said "it only seems like yesterday that she was going to bed with her dummy". Funny how history repeats itself.

In conclusion, John you have found someone who is beautiful, kind, considerate, generous and loving. And Jane – you have found, well ..... John.

So to wrap this up, I'd just like to say that marriage is not about finding someone you can live with, it's about finding someone you can't live without.

Here's 'Wishin and Hopin' that John and Jane have the best of times together as Mr and Mrs Smith.

May you both live as long as you want,
And never want as long as you live.

A toast to love and laughter and happily ever after.

To the happiness, health, wealth and good fortune of the happy couple

May your love be modern enough to service the times and old fashioned enough to last forever.

The most precious possession that a man can have in this world is a woman's heart, and in that, I think you'll agree John has successfully secured the heart of Jane.

All that leaves me to do now is to ask you all to be upstanding and join me in wishing John and Jane all the best as they enter married life together. So please raise your glasses to: 'THE BRIDE AND GROOM'.

I am sure everyone here today would like to wish the new Mr and Mrs Smith good health, happiness and a wonderful life together, The toast is 'John and Jane'

To the Bride & Groom

May your love be as endless as your wedding rings.

May you grow old on one pillow

May their joys be as deep as the ocean And their misfortunes as light as the foam.

Here's to the groom with bride so fair, And here's to the bride with groom so rare!

A toast to the groom - and discretion to his bachelor friends.

A toast to love and laughter and happily ever after.

Congratulations on the termination of your isolation and may I express an appreciation of your determination to end the desperation and frustration which has caused you so much consternation in giving you the inspiration to make a combination to bring an accumulation to the population.